EURIBOR (Euro Interbank Offered Rate) is the benchmark rate of the large euro money market that has emerged since 1999. It is sponsored by the European Banking Federation (FBE), which represents the interests of 3,000 banks in the 15 Member States of the European Union and in Iceland, Norway and Switzerland and by the Financial Markets Association (ACI).

EURIBOR is the rate at which euro interbank term deposits are placed. It is daily published at 11.00 a.m. (Brussels) for value two days after. EURIBOR was first published on 30 December 1998 for value 4 January 1999. The choice of banks quoting for EURIBOR is based on market criteria. These banks, of first class credit standing, have been selected to ensure that the diversity of the euro money market is adequately reflected.

Therefore, EURIBOR may be considered an efficient and representative benchmark.

A strict Code of Conduct sets out rules covering, amongst other things:

- the criteria used to determine which banks may belong to the panel of banks;
- the obligations of the Panel Banks ; and
- the tasks and the composition of the Steering Committee, which is responsible for overseeing EURIBOR.

Since its launch, EURIBOR has become the reference on the derivatives markets and is the underlying rate of many derivatives transactions. Moneyline Telerate has been chosen as the screen service provider responsible for publishing EURIBOR. It is also published on a daily basis in “L’Echo” and “De Tijd”.

Historical information on 3 month EURIBOR can be found on the following internet address: www.euribor.org

The historical information on 3 month EURIBOR are purely for reference purposes, the historical movement of 3 month EURIBOR under various economic circumstances being not necessarily indicative of the future performance of 3 month EURIBOR or what the value of the Notes may be in the future.

Any historical trend in the value of 3 month EURIBOR is not an indication that 3 month EURIBOR or the value of the Notes is more or less likely to increase or decrease at any time during the life of the Notes.

Prospective purchasers of the Notes should conduct their own investigations and, in deciding whether or not to purchase the Notes, should form their own view of the merits of an investment related to 3 month EURIBOR based upon such investigations and not in reliance upon any information given in this document.

The Issuer makes no representation nor gives any assurance that any publicly available information regarding 3 month EURIBOR is accurate or complete. Furthermore, there can be no assurance that all events occurring prior to the date of this Final Terms that would affect the value of 3 month EURIBOR have been publicly disclosed. Subsequent disclosure of any such events or the disclosure of or failure to disclose material future events concerning 3 month EURIBOR could affect the value of 3 month EURIBOR and consequently the value of the Notes.
